

Directives

- Directives and components hand-in-hand are the fundamental elements of Angular.
- Components can be defined as directives with views.
- There are two types of directives in Angular:
  - Structural
  - Attribute
- A directive is defined using the `@directive` decorator