Directives

- Directives and components hand-in-hand are the fundamental elements of Angular.

- Components can be defined as directives with views.

- There are two types of directives in Angular:

    - Structural

    - Attribute

- A directive is defined using the `@directive` decorator

TODO